

NORRIS' MISFORTUNE IS MILEY'S GAIN AT PPMS

IMPERIAL, PA - Jared Miley of Pittsburgh, Pa., picked up his second Ultimate Northeast Super Late Model Series victory by winning the Herb Scott Memorial at Pittsburgh's Pennsylvania Motor Speedway. The victory was worth $3,000 for Miley who took the lead on lap 23 when race leader Michael Norris blew a right rear tire with a straightaway lead.

Alex Ferree led the first lap of the event from his pole starting position before Norris pulled a big slider on him and second-running Miley to take the lead on lap two. From there, Norris began to pull away from the field.

Norris had a straightaway advantage on Miley and had lapped up to the sixth place running machine of Matt Cosner before blowing a right rear tire on lap 23 bringing out the first caution of the event.

On the restart second-running Ferree attempted on Miley, but Miley powered off the second corner and began to pull away. Kyle Lee reeled in Miley slightly late, but Miley was able to pick up the victory by about 10-12 car lengths.

The Ultimate Super Late Model Series Northeast Region will be back in action again on Saturday July 14th as the Series will return to Pittsburgh Pennsylvania Motor Speedway located in Imperial, Pennsylvania for the annual "Red Miley Memorial" event paying $3,000 to win.
